

7 Reasons to Attend the Blue Mountain Summit

1. Learn from Blue Mountain RAM experts.

This is the only event where you can tap into both the deep expertise of Blue Mountain and the practical, in-the-trenches experience of your peers.

2. Network. Network. Network.

This is a great opportunity to build your network of calibration and maintenance professionals. We know you will all have plenty of information to share!

3. Discover more than just software.

You will have the opportunity to meet customers who have faced every possible challenge – some that you are familiar with yourself and others that you may have never considered. Not only will you learn about using our software, but you will also discover your job's best practices.

4. Hear practical solutions from real customers.

Fellow customers understand the challenges you face. Share how you have handled everything from multiple sites, to full integration of your CCMS, CMMS and EAM solutions, to implementing major software upgrades.

5. Be inspired.

The added value of attending a conference always lies in the interactions with your peers. Take part in time-tested advice on dealing with whatever is next on your radar.

6. Provide input into Blue Mountain RAM's future.

Our Product Roadmap reviews upcoming additions and changes to our software, as well as gives you the opportunity to provide us with input so that we can better meet your needs in our future versions of Blue Mountain RAM.

7. Get one-on-one advice.

Blue Mountain experts will be available all day long for advice and consultation on every aspect of your investment.
